Press Information

Credentials—Members of the sports media may obtain press box credentials by writing Gary Cavalli, Sports Information Director, Department of Athletics, Stanford, California 94305 or telephoning (415) 497-4418 at least two weeks prior to Stanford home games. On late requests, tickets will be left at the Press Will Call Booth at Stanford Stadium.

Services—Press box services at Stanford include complete play-by-play, halftime, flash and final statistics, and quotes from coaches and players.

Parking—The Press Parking Area is located directly west of the Stanford Stadium press box. A detailed map is provided on the back of each press parking pass. Members of the sports media should arrive at least 45 minutes to an hour before game time to be assured a parking spot.

Lunch—Sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks will be served.

Telephones—Arrangements for a telephone in the Stanford press box should be made directly with your local telephone company representative. Stanford's sports information office will cross-check all locations with the phone company.

Telecopier Service—SportsCom service is available in the Stanford press box. Call Larry Phayer (415) 798-1526 or write him at 101 Summerwood Place, Concord, California 94518 for details. Stanford's sports information office also has a telecopier which may be used for a $10 service charge; telephone (415) 497-4418 to make the necessary arrangements.

Western Union—Western Union service is available in the Stanford press box. Arrangements may be made through local Western Union offices or at the game.

Photography—Requests for photography and film credentials should be addressed to the Stanford sports information office.

Broadcasting Contracts—Contact the Stanford sports information office for broadcasting contracts and fee information.

Stanford on Radio and TV

Radio—Eight of Stanford's 1976 football games will be broadcast over KSFO (560) in San Francisco. Because of conflicts with San Francisco Giants broadcasts, the Penn State (Sept. 11), San Jose State (Sept. 25) and Army (Oct. 2) games will be shifted to K-101 San Francisco.

Don Klein, sports director of KCBS radio and the dean of West Coast football broadcasters, will handle the play-by-play. The 1976 season will be his 21st as Stanford's play-by-play announcer. Klein will have a new color man this year in KSFO sports director Joe Angel. Angel formerly was a sports reporter for KCBS radio and KRON-TV.

Sponsors for the game broadcasts are Rickey's Hyatt House of Palo Alto, Pepsi-Cola, Western Airlines and Security Pacific Bank. The pre-game show is sponsored by Round Table Pizza. Two post-game shows are sponsored by Ely Chevrolet of Menlo Park and Ming's Restaurant of Palo Alto.

Television—The Stanford-San Jose State game Sept. 25 at Stanford will be telecast regionally on the ABC television network.

Outlook

1976 Stanford Outlook

Slow starts and fast finishes have become trademarks of Stanford football in recent years. For three seasons in a row, the Cardinals have jelled late in the year, winning five of their last six games on each occasion.

The 1975 season was typical of the trend, as Coach Jack Christiansen's men turned an early 1-3-1 record to a fine 6-4-1 by season's end. In doing so, the Cards recorded their eighth straight winning campaign and finished third in the Pacific-8, one game back of co-champions UCLA and California.

Christiansen hopes to change things a bit in 1976.

"Our goal," says the fifth-year Stanford coach, "is to start strong and finish strong. We're going to go after every game on our schedule more aggressively than ever before."

Though the Cards once again open on the road against Penn State and Michigan, that goal may well be within reach.

Tony Hill

Unlike last year, when Stanford fielded a young team with only eight returning starters, Christiansen has an experienced, veteran ballclub on hand this time around. His '76 squad includes 15 returning starters and 40 lettermen.

"I like to think we have the personnel to challenge for the championship this year," he says. "It will depend somewhat on health, because we're thin in a few places.

"On paper, USC appears to be the class of the conference, but after that it's very close between ourselves, Cal and UCLA. I think any of the four teams are capable of winning it.

"If we can get the big performances we need from our people, I think we can compete with any team on any day."

Offensively, Stanford has virtually all the ingredients returning from the team that averaged just under 30 points per game a year ago.

"This could be as explosive a team as we've had in some time," Christiansen says. "We have the best receiver in the nation in Tony Hill, a strong and experienced line, two outstanding quarterbacks, three good tight ends, and all our top runners from last year."

Hill, a leading All-America candidate, ranked seventh nationally in receiving last season with 55 catches for 916 yards and 7 TD's. He is within reach of all Stanford career receiving records.

Quarterbacks Guy Benjamin and Mike Cordova combined for 21 touchdown passes and 2357 passing yards last year. Benjamin starred in the late season, coming off the bench to direct Stanford's 13-10 win over USC and throwing three TD passes against Oregon. Cordova started the first nine games of the season, winning National Back of the Week honors for a brilliant performance against Michigan and Pac-8 Back of the Week for his effort against Army.

In addition to Hill, they'll have a number of other fine targets, including junior wide receivers Bill Kellar and James Lofton, and mammoth tight end Mark Hoaglin (6-8, 250).

The running game, which showed dramatic improvement last year, should continue to accelerate in 1976. All of Stanford's leading rushers return, including Academic All-America Don Stevenson and all-purpose back Ron Inge.

All-Coast guard Alex Karakozoff and standout tackle Gordon King anchor a solid line that will average over 250 pounds.

Duncan McColl

Defensively, the Cardinals will employ a multiple front defense this year, departing from the 3-4-4 or "fifty" they've utilized for the past few seasons.

"Our goal is to give people a lot of different looks," Christiansen says. "We plan to use some form of a four-man front most of the time."

The Cards will be paced defensively by All-America end Duncan McColl, certain to be one of the outstanding linemen in the country this year.

The line, anchored by McColl and tackles John Harris and Geoff Kieburtz, should be one of the team's strong points. A veteran linebacking crew will be headed by senior Jeff Barton, junior Ray Cardinalli and sophomore Gordy Ceresino, one of the top freshmen in the league a year ago.

Another strong area could be the secondary, where All-Coast safety Rich Waters will be flanked by cornerbacks Larry Reynolds and Savann Thompson, who both started as freshmen in 1975.

OFFENSE

Receivers—Though tight end Ted Pappas and split end Bill Singler have graduated, the Cardinals appear to have their usual stable of fine receivers.

"We feel Tony Hill is the best receiver in the country," Christiansen says. "Bill Kellar has the ability to step in and do a very good job at split end, and we're expecting some big things from James Lofton. At tight end, we have three capable people in Mark Hoaglin (6-8, 250), Dave Strong (6-3, 212) and Marty Smith (6-6, 215). So I think the receiving department will be a real strong point for us again."

Kellar had 11 receptions for 152 yards and one TD last year, while Hoaglin, Lofton and Strong each had three receptions.

The top receivers on last year's JV team—sophomores Vince Mulroy and John Pyle—further brighten the receiving picture.

Offensive Line—Stanford will have the biggest line in school history this year, averaging over 250 pounds. Three starters return in All-Coast guard Alex Karakozoff (6-3, 250), junior tackle Gordon King (6-4, 253), and senior guard Al TenBruggencate (6-3, 255), who switches from tackle. The Cards must replace center Todd Anderson and left guards Tom Tipton and Jim Smythe.

Junior letterman Mark Hill (6-4, 255) is counted on to fill Anderson's shoes at center. With TenBruggencate moving to guard, lettermen Gary Anderson (6-4, 251) and Bill Hubbard (6-4, 255) will vie for the tackle slot. Senior Ramsey Blackburn (6-1, 235) provides a solid backup guard.

"Karakozoff and King are two outstanding football players," says Christiansen. "Hill, Anderson, TenBruggencate and Hubbard are all experienced and can do the job. We should have a good, strong line, though we lack depth."

Quarterback—Guy Benjamin and Mike Cordova have shared the quarterback job for the past two years. Benjamin now ranks first in career passing percentage at Stanford, while Cordova is among the school's all-time leaders in touchdown passes, total offense, and passing yardage.

"Both Benjamin and Cordova are excellent quarterbacks," Christiansen says. "Like all coaches, I'd like to go with one guy and have him know he'll be the starter all the time. But with two people of this calibre who are so close in overall ability, it's not possible and not fair to do that.

"It's still a matter of constant evaluation. When we start making our preparations for Penn State, I'll make a decision on the starter for the first game. If the starter in any game doesn't do the job, we'll be quick to make a change, just as in any other position where we have more than one good player. Yet you can't judge a quarterback on one series or one pass.

"I have a tremendous amount of confidence in both of them. Mike improved this spring in the passing area, where he was a little down at the end of last season. Guy improved in some areas where he needed work. They're close in all competitive areas."

Don Stevenson

Geoff Kieburtz

Running Backs—"I think we're stronger at running back than we've ever been from the standpoints of size, speed and depth," Christiansen says. "We should have an excellent power running game this fall."

Stanford's four top rushers from 1975 return in Academic All-America fullback Don Stevenson (138 carries for 650 yards), senior tailback Ron Inge (90 for 439), junior John Finley (70 for 343) and junior Gary Lynn (22 for 157). Inge also ranked third on the team in receiving (27 catches) and second in scoring (six TD's).

Making the picture even brighter will be the return of fullback Dave Tenn, who was lost for the season after breaking his arm against Penn State last year, and the addition of promising sophomore Phil Francis, one of the standouts of spring practice.

DEFENSE

Defensive Line—"This could be a real strong area for us," says Christiansen. "We have an experienced nucleus of players with a lot of ability, size and quickness."

Stanford will go with a base 4-3-4 defense this year, switching from the 3-4-4 used the past few years, to take advantage of a wealth of talent on the line.

John Harris

The team's five top defensive linemen return, led by All-America Duncan McColl, Stanford's leader in six defensive categories last year. Tackles John Harris (fourth leading tackler in '75) and Geoff Kieburtz (seventh in '75) also return, along with ends Mike Wilkinson and Bruce Barker.

Two ends who missed the '75 season with knee injuries—6-3, 245-pound Andy Kolesnikow and soph Chuck Evans—could challenge for the starting job opposite McColl. Evans was the defensive star of spring practice. Bolstering the tackle corps will be junior Steve Howe and soph Charles Bedford.

Linebackers—The Cards must replace graduated starters Geb Church and Dan Francis, but six lettermen return in outside linebackers Jeff Barton, Ray Cardinalli, Rich Merlo and Roger Greer, and middle backers Gordy Ceresino and John Olenchalk.

"Barton should be a super player for us," Christiansen says. "Ceresino and Olenchalk will give us a lot of strength in the middle. Cardinalli and Merlo are both very capable of doing the job on the other side."

Secondary—Three starters return in All-Coast safety Rich Waters and cornerbacks Larry Reynolds and Savann Thompson. Waters led the team with four interceptions last year, while Reynolds and Thompson both broke into the lineup as freshmen and made key plays in the Cards' upset win over USC.

Junior Ralph Phillips and seniors Larry McGovern and Jeff Siemens are the candidates to replace departed All-League strong safety Gerald Wilson.

"Waters should be an outstanding player and a real team leader for us,"

Christiansen says. "We have four people that I have confidence in at cornerback. Reynolds and Thompson have great futures ahead of them, and Paul Skrabo and John Pigott are very capable replacements. They could break in as starters somewhere."

KICKING GAME

The Cardinals must replace Mike Langford, whose dramatic, last-second field goals defeated California in '74 and USC in '75, and tied Michigan in '75.

Yet Christiansen feels his placekicking will be "as good as it has been" this year with senior Mike Michel and soph Roger May on hand.

"Michel could be as good or better than the people he's followed—Mike Langford and Rod Garcia," Christiansen says. "He's capable of hitting 60-yard field goals. He has a very strong, pro calibre leg. We had him playing two positions in the secondary last year, but he'll concentrate on kicking this season."

Michel hit 9 of 13 field goals at Ventura JC in '74 and averaged 42.0 yards per punt. Hampered by a pulled hamstring last year, he was the Cards' regular punter (33.0) and missed one field goal attempt from 60 yards.

May, a former All-State kicker in Colorado, booted three field goals and 20 of 24 PAT's in JV action last season.

BILLY ANDERSON — Sophomore — Running Back
5-9, 190 — Richmond, Calif. — General Studies

Led the 1975 Stanford JV team in rushing and scoring...Carried 65 times for 512 yards and a 7.9 average...Scored eight touchdowns, including a 96-yard run from scrimmage, an 84-yard pass reception, and a 79-yard punt return...Tried to carry additional weight in the spring, but found he sacrificed speed...Will return 10 pounds lighter in the fall..."Billy is a good, tough inside runner, who also has breakaway potential," says offensive backfield coach Dave Currey...Was a 1974 prep All-America at El Cerrito H.S....Once gained 249 yards and scored three TD's in a high school game...His father, Bill, played football at Oregon State in 1951-52.

GARY ANDERSON — Senior — Offensive Tackle
6-4, 251 — Auburn, Calif. — Communication

Edged ahead of Bill Hubbard for the starting tackle job at the end of spring practice...Started at guard as a freshman, then lettered as a top reserve the past two seasons..."Gary has greatly improved his pass blocking," says line coach Doug Single. "He has excellent quickness and utilizes it well in drive blocking"...Placed fourth in the Pacific-8 Conference heavyweight wrestling finals last year...A former California prep heavyweight wrestling champion.

BOB ASTON — Junior — Defensive End
6-6, 236 — Walnut Creek, Calif. — Biology

A JC transfer from Diablo Valley College, where he won All-Conference honors as an offensive tackle...Played one year of varsity football at Weber State before transferring to Diablo Valley last year...Was starting center on his JC basketball team..."Bob has excellent speed and quickness, and he's working to build his upper body strength," says line coach Gunther Cunningham.

LACY ATKINSON — Senior — Defensive Tackle
6-3, 235 — San Mateo, Calif. — Archaeology/Anthropology

Sat out the 1975 season to participate in an anthropology honors program in Africa...Lettered on the '74 varsity as a defensive lineman...At 29, the oldest player on the team and perhaps in the Pacific-8...A Vietnam veteran who spent six years in the Marines and earned a Purple Heart..."Lacy is a great leader and team player," says line coach Gunther Cunningham...Only six months younger than his coach, the 30-year-old Cunningham...Played at San Mateo College before transferring to Stanford in '74.

B. Anderson

G. Anderson

Atkinson

Barker

GORDON BANKS — Freshman — Running Back
5-11, 180 — Los Angeles — Psychology

Probably the fastest running back ever recruited by Stanford...Has 9.6 speed in the 100, 21.2 in the 200...Also considered a great track prospect...Earned All-America and All-CIF honors as a junior...Helped lead Loyola H.S. to the CIF 4-A championship last fall despite being hampered by an injury..."We've looked for his kind of speed for a long time," says offensive backfield coach Dave Currey...Goals include law school, pro football, and the 1980 Olympics...Father, Henry, played football at Pepperdine in 1954.

BRUCE BARKER — Junior — Defensive End
6-5, 235 — San Francisco — Chemistry

Played impressively as a sophomore last season, registering 34 tackles...Forced three fumbles and made two tackles for loss in Stanford's 67-14 win over Army...Tore cartilage in his knee during spring practice and underwent surgery in April...Worked very hard all summer to completely rehabilitate knee..."Bruce is a great natural athlete who needs only more overall strength to challenge for a first string job," says line coach Gunther Cunningham...Was All-City in both football and basketball at San Francisco's Lowell H.S.

JEFF BARTON — Senior — Linebacker
6-0, 205 — Cypress, Calif. — Economics

Rated by his coaches as one of the outstanding players on the team...Never started last year, but played 198 minutes at outside linebacker...Registered 58 tackles and raced 16 yards with a blocked punt for a TD against Oregon State...Will start at strong side linebacker this year..."Jeff is one heckuva football player," says defensive coordinator Norb Hecker. "He has outstanding speed (4.65), he's a great hitter, and he has a tremendous desire to excel. He had a super spring even with torn cartilage in his knee. He had it operated on and was out playing basketball two weeks later"...A fiery competitor who has emerged as a team leader...Was a 1974 JC All-America at Fullerton before transferring to Stanford last year...Active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Jeff Barton

DAVID BAUM — Freshman — Wide Receiver
6-2, 185 — Martinez, Calif. — Pre-Med

Rated an excellent prospect in both football and baseball...Caught 26 passes for 736 yards and a 28.3 yard average last fall at Alhambra H.S....Scored 12 TD's and carried 13 times for 330 yards...Earned honorable mention All-America and All Northern California in football, All-League in baseball and basketball...Had a 10-0 pitching record last spring.

CHARLES BEDFORD — Sophomore — Defensive Tackle
6-3, 237 — Portland, Oregon — General Studies

Played impressively on the Stanford JV's last year...Called "a very active, reckless player with fine overall speed," by line coach Gunther Cunningham...Should see considerable action this fall at tackle, or could be moved to end...Was a two-time All-State linebacker at Portland's Washington H.S....Also starred in basketball and golf...Has a 210 bowling average.

GUY BENJAMIN — Senior (2) — Quarterback
6-3, 200 — Sepulveda, Calif. — Political Science

The top percentage passer in Stanford football history...After two varsity campaigns, has completed 60 percent of his passes...Took over the starting quarterback position in the later stages of the 1975 season after coming off the bench to direct Stanford's 13-10 upset win over USC...Completed 15 of 25 passes for 243 yards and 3 TD's in Stanford's 33-30 win over Oregon to earn a spot in UPI's Backfield of the Week...Has to rank as one of the finest passers in the nation this year..."Guy has outstanding passing ability," says Coach Jack Christiansen, "and he improved in the other areas of his game in spring practice"...Again goes into the fall locked in a battle with Mi ke Cordova for the starting job...Has two years of eligibility remaining...Missed his entire freshman season with a knee injury...Was the hero of Stanford's 22-20 come-from-behind win over California in the 1974 Big Game...Other top performances last year were against Oregon State (9 for 16, 92 yards, 1 TD) and Washington State (3 for 4, 107 yards, 2 TD's).

Coaches

Jack Christiansen

Head Coach

Jack Christiansen, former head coach of the San Francisco 49ers and All-Pro defensive back with the Detroit Lions, is in his fifth year as head coach at Stanford.

Christiansen first joined the Stanford staff in 1968 after 17 years as a professional player and coach. Since he moved up to the head coaching position in 1972, his teams have compiled a 24-17-3 record en route to four consecutive winning seasons. The Cards under Chris are 15-5-1 in Pacific-8 play over the past three seasons, and have twice finished second in the conference.

Regarded as one of football's leading authorities on the passing game, Christiansen has tutored two Stanford All-America quarterbacks now starring in the professional ranks—Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett and Mike Boryla. The Cardinals have rated among the nation's leaders in passing offense for all of Christiansen's eight years on the staff.

In football circles, Christiansen is known as a "player's coach," interested more in his athletes' welfare than in his coaching record. His philosophy is based on 29 years experience as both a professional and collegiate player and coach.

Prior to joining John Ralston's Stanford staff in 1968, Christiansen spent nine years coaching the San Francisco 49ers, serving the last five years as head coach.

From 1951-58, he was a starting defensive back for the Detroit Lions, earning All-Pro recognition six times and playing in five Pro Bowls. During a consistently brilliant career, he held the N.F.L. record for punt returns, both season and overall, and played on four league title-winners and three world championship teams. In 1970, Christiansen was honored by enshrinement in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. Many seasoned observers still rate "Chris' crew" at Detroit as the greatest defensive secondary ever to play the game.

Football Digest named Christiansen in 1972 as one of the all-time top 25 professional football players, along with such greats as Johnny Unitas, Gale Sayers, Jimmy Brown, Deacon Jones, Bob Lilly and Dick Butkus.

During his collegiate career at Colorado State University, Christiansen was a three-sport standout, earning a total of eight varsity letters in football, track and baseball. A three-time winner of the Skyline Conference quarter-mile track championship, he was named All-Conference in football twice. He received his B.S. degree from Colorado State in 1951.

In his first assignment as an assistant coach at Stanford, Christiansen converted Don Parish from defensive end into an All-America linebacker. After two seasons of tutoring Plunkett, an All-America and winner of the 1970 Heisman Trophy, Chris took over the Card defensive secondary. Under his direction, the new edition of Chris' Crew led the Pac-8 by limiting opponents to under 40 percent in completions and to only four touchdowns in the air.

Always an outstanding competitor, Chris sports a respectable golf game with a seven handicap. He makes frequent appearances in Bay Area charity and celebrity tournaments in addition to playing about three rounds a week during football's off-season.

Born in Sublett, Kansas, December 20, 1928, the 47-year-old Christiansen and his wife Doris are the parents of four daughters—Terri, 23, a graduate of William Woods College; Jackie, 21, a nursing student; and 20-year-old twins, Jani, a junior at Menlo College, and Joni, a Stanford junior.

Gunther Cunningham
Defensive Line

Gunther Cunningham, a former linebacker and coach at the University of Oregon, is in his third season handling the Cardinal defensive line. Cunningham, 30, joined the Stanford staff in 1973 as the junior varsity coach, then assumed responsibility for the defensive line in 1974. His defensive ends that season are both playing in the pro ranks—Pat Donovan, a '74 consensus All-America selection, with the Dallas Cowboys, and Roger Stillwell, starting for the Chicago Bears.

A 1968 graduate of Oregon, Cunningham started for three years at linebacker while also handling placekicking for the Ducks. Despite being out part of the 1968 season with injuries, he was named honorable mention All-Coast.

Following his playing career, he remained on Coach Jerry Frei's staff as a full-time assistant for three years. In 1972, he left Eugene to work under Frank Broyles at the University of Arkansas. He coached the defensive ends and secondary for the Razorbacks as they posted a 6-5 record.

Cunningham was born in Munich, Germany, June 19, 1946, and moved to the United States at age 11. He lived in Lompoc, Calif., for many years, and attended Allan Hancock Junior College before enrolling at Oregon in 1966. Cunningham and his wife Rene live in Palo Alto. Their first child, Natalie Rene, was born in July.

Dave Currey
Offensive Backs

Now in his seventh season at Stanford, Dave Currey is the dean of the Cardinal assistant football coaches. Currey, 33, assumed responsibility for the offensive backs prior to the 1971 Rose Bowl. His backfield last season established a new Stanford single game rushing record with 395 yards vs. Washington State. The old standard was 383 set against San Jose State in 1934.

Currey's playing days began at South Pasadena High School, where he was a fullback for the 1959 CIF champions. He played on another championship team as a freshman at Glendale Junior College in 1962. The following year, he moved on to Samford University in Birmingham, Ala., where he played under Bobby Bowden, now coach at Florida State.

Midway through his senior year, Currey returned to California and was graduated with honors from California State University-Los Angeles in 1966. He obtained a Master's Degree in education from Stanford in 1970.

Before coming to Stanford, Currey was head football coach and athletic director at St. Bonaventure High School in Ventura. In 1969, when his team won the CIF Championship, he became the youngest coach ever to receive the Helms Foundation Southern California Football Coaches Association "Coach of the Year" award.

A graduate of the Dale Carnegie courses, Currey is a highly sought speaker. He is active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Currey was born May 13, 1943 in Toronto, Canada. He and his wife Kathy live in Sunnyvale. Their first child, John David, was born in April.

Norb Hecker
Defensive Coordinator and Linebackers Coach

Regarded as one of the brilliant minds in the game of football, Norb Hecker is in his fifth year as Stanford's defensive coordinator. Before coming to Stanford, he had 21 years of professional experience as a player and coach, including two-and-one-half years as head coach of the Atlanta Falcons and three seasons as defensive coordinator of the New York Giants.

Hecker, 49, played professionally six seasons in the NFL and two in the Canadian Football League. His pro career began in Los Angeles, where he played both offensive end and defensive back for the Rams from 1951-53. After a year with Toronto, he returned to the NFL and played for the Washington Redskins from 1955-57, leading the NFL Eastern Division in '56 with eight interceptions. An original co-founder of the NFL Players' Association, he completed his NFL career with 23 interceptions. His final season as a pro player was 1958, when he served as player-coach of the Hamilton franchise in the CFL.

Throughout his 18 years as a coach, Hecker has been known as a superb organizer and motivator. His coaching style was no doubt influenced by seven years (1959-65) with Vince Lombardi during the glory days of the Green Bay Packers.

Hecker was graduated from Baldwin-Wallace College (Berea, Ohio) in 1951. He and his wife Barbara are the parents of five children—Doug, 23, a Baldwin-Wallace graduate; Jeff, 22, a graduate of C. W. Post; Janie, 20, a student at Shasta College; Karen, 19, a freshman at Oregon; and Sheryl, a senior at Gunn High School. The Heckers reside on the Stanford campus.

Pete Kettela
Receivers

Pete Kettela, former head coach at the University of California-Riverside, is in his fifth year as coach of the Stanford receivers. Under his direction, the Cards have hauled down more passes than any other Pac-8 team the past four seasons.

Kettela, 38, came to Stanford after serving as an assistant coach at the University of Pacific in 1971. The year before, he was an assistant at UC-Santa Barbara. From 1965-70, he was head coach at Riverside, where his teams compiled a 23-19-2 record.

A 1961 graduate of Riverside, he was the first three-sport letterman in the school's history, starring in football, baseball and basketball. He was named the University's Athlete of the Year in 1960. After quarterbacking his team to Riverside's first undefeated season in '60, he was named Little All-America.

After graduation, Kettela earned his teaching credential and then coached junior varsity football and baseball for a year at Rubidoux High School in Riverside. The following year, while earning a Master's Degree in education at San Diego State, he was head baseball and assistant football coach at Southwestern Junior College in Chula Vista.

Kettela was born May 28, 1938. He and his wife Jill live in Palo Alto.

Willie Shaw
Defensive Backs

Willie Shaw, a former star cornerback at the University of New Mexico and assistant coach at San Diego City College, is in his second season coaching the Stanford defensive backfield. Shaw, 32, joined the Cardinal football staff in 1974 as special teams coach.

From 1970-73, Shaw was an assistant coach at San Diego City College. In 1973, he also found time to serve as assistant football and track coach at San Diego High School and to pursue a Master's Degree in education. During the summers of '72 and '73, he supervised San Diego's high school and college passing leagues.

A high school and junior college football star in San Diego, Shaw was a standout defensive halfback at New Mexico for two years. In 1969, he was team captain, All-Western Athletic Conference, and honorable mention All-America.

Shaw transferred to San Diego State in 1970 and at the same time assumed the assistant football coaching job at City College. In 1973, CC won its league championship and competed in the state playoffs.

Shaw obtained his B.A. in physical education as well as a secondary teaching credential at San Diego State.

His brother Nate, currently defensive backs coach at Oregon State, was an All-America defensive back at USC.

Shaw was born in Louisiana January 11, 1944. He and his wife Gay are the parents of three children—Tawnya, 5; Davis, 3; and Eric, 2. They live in Mountain View.

Doug Single
Offensive Line

After coaching the Stanford junior varsity teams the past two seasons, Doug Single assumes responsibility for the Cardinal offensive line this year. Single, 25, directed the JV's to a 4-0 record in 1974 and a 4-2 mark last season. A Stanford football letterman in 1971 and '72, Single served as a graduate assistant on Jack Christiansen's staff before being named JV coach in 1974.

Single was a center on the 1971 Stanford team and played in the Cardinals' 13-12 Rose Bowl win over Michigan. During the '72 season, he was a part-time starter at center and handled all long snaps.

He received his A.B. in political science from Stanford in 1973, then worked with offensive line coach Hudson Houck, now at USC, as a graduate assistant that fall. Following graduation, Single was accepted into Stanford's School of Education, Harvard's School of Law and Princeton's School of Government. He turned down all three schools in order to join the Stanford football staff.

In addition to coaching the offensive line, Single coordinates all of Stanford's high school recruiting. Currently he is completing work on his Master's Degree in public policy at Stanford.

Single was born June 25, 1951 in Berkeley, Calif. He and his wife Marie, a school teacher in San Jose, live in Menlo Park.

Don Frease
Junior Varsity

Don Frease, a graduate assistant on coach Jack Christiansen's staff the past two seasons, is in his first year coaching the Cardinal junior varsity team. Frease, 26, replaces Doug Single who now coaches the Stanford offensive line.

A 1972 graduate of the University of Oregon, Frease played defensive back for the Ducks, earning three varsity letters. Following graduation, he spent one year helping coach at his alma mater, James Lick High in San Jose.

As a prep receiver at Lick, Frease was an All-Central Coast Section selection. A teammate of Jim Plunkett in high school, he helped his team post 8-1, 9-0 and 7-2 campaigns.

Frease received Lick's top scholar-athlete award his senior season after earning letters in three sports—football, track and basketball.

Born September 17, 1949, in Carroll, Iowa, Frease is a bachelor. He lives in Palo Alto.

Heisman Trophy

Quarterback Jim Plunkett became the first Stanford player to win the Heisman Trophy in 1970. Plunkett, who led his team to the Pacific-8 championship and an upset 27-17 win over Ohio State in the 1971 Rose Bowl, was a runaway winner. He finished first in the balloting in all sections of the country, received 510 first place votes of the 1,059 ballots cast, and compiled 2,229 points to 1,410 for runnerup Joe Theisman of Notre Dame. The 6-3, 204-pounder from San Jose, California is now starring in the pro ranks with the New England Patriots.

Six Stanford players have finished in the top 10 in Heisman Trophy balloting—Norm Standlee, 8th in 1940; Frank Albert, 4th in 1940 and 3rd in 1941; Bill McColl, 4th in 1951; Bob Garrett, 5th in 1953; John Brodie, 7th in 1956; and Plunkett, 8th in 1969.

Stanford in the Rose Bowl

11 Appearances Won 5, Lost 5, Tied 1

January 1, 1902 Michigan 49, Stanford 0 In the first Rose Bowl game ever, Stanford was blanked by Michigan's "Point-a-Minute Machine." The next official Rose Bowl game was not played until 1916.

January 1, 1925 Notre Dame 27, Stanford 10 One of the most classic Rose Bowls matched Ernie Nevers and Pop Warner against the Four Horsemen and Knute Rockne. Nevers rushed for 114 yards in spite of playing on heavily taped ankles which had been broken during the regular season.

January 1, 1927 Stanford 7, Alabama 7 A last-minute touchdown and conversion saved defeat for Alabama, leaving the two undefeated teams with a less than satisfying finish.

January 1, 1928 Stanford 7, Pittsburgh 6 Pop Warner's third Rose Bowl team provided Stanford with its first win in Pasadena. Walt Heinecke's block of the Pitt PAT attempt in the second quarter proved to be the game's key play.

January 1, 1934 Columbia 7, Stanford 0 Bobby Grayson sloshed over 152 yards in a futile effort by Stanford's Vow Boys. On New Year's Eve, the worst flood in Southern California history dumped 18 inches of water on the Rose Bowl. Pasadena firemen pumped water from the field all morning on New Year's Day to make the surface playable.

January 1, 1935 Alabama 29, Stanford 13 The Crimson Tide countered a 7-0 Stanford first quarter lead by scoring 22 straight points in the last 13 minutes of the second period. Stanford's Bobby Grayson, Bones Hamilton and Buck Van Dellen combined for 181 rushing yards.

January 1, 1936 Stanford 7, SMU 0 The Vow Boys made a new vow prior to their third consecutive Pasadena trip—to win the Rose Bowl. Stanford end Keith Topping spent most of the afternoon harassing the Mustang backfield, thus preserving a 7-0 first quarter Indian lead.

January 1, 1941 Stanford 21, Nebraska 13 Pete Kmetovic's third quarter 39-yard punt return was the icing on the cake for Stanford, which sported the most outstanding collegiate backfield since the Four Horsemen. Coach Clark Shaughnessy's explosive T-formation of quarterback Frankie Albert, fullback Norm Standlee and halfbacks Hugh Gallarneau and Kmetovic rushed for 277 yards.

January 1, 1952 Illinois 40, Stanford 7 Big Ten representative Illinois completed a 34-point second half scoring assault while blanking Coach Chuck Taylor's squad. Stanford's only score of the day capped an 84-yard first quarter drive with quarterback Gary Kerkorian completing five consecutive passes to Bill McColl, Harry Hugasian and Ron Cook.

January 1, 1971 Stanford 27, Ohio State 17 In Stanford's first Rose Bowl appearance in nearly two decades, quarterback Jim Plunkett led his teammates to an upset win over Big Ten Champ Ohio State. Having just been awarded the Heisman Trophy, Plunkett burned the Buckeyes for 265 aerial yards, completing 20 of 30 passes.

January 1, 1972 Stanford 13, Michigan 12 Rod Garcia's 31-yard field goal with just 12 seconds remaining in the game gave Stanford its second consecutive Rose Bowl upset win over a highly favored Big Ten champ. Michigan's defense was unable to stop the Stanford passing attack as quarterback Don Bunce completed 24 of 44 attempts for 290 yards.

Stanford University

President Richard Lyman

"By any of the ordinary indices—growth in facilities or budget, faculty distinction, the test scores of successful applicants, or the American Council on Education ratings of graduate programs—Stanford rose to a place among the best half-dozen American universities and is still, on top of it, a marvelously pleasant place."
—Carnegie Commission on Higher Education Report

Organized in 1891, Leland Stanford Junior University covers some 8,200 acres from the plain of the Santa Clara Valley into the foothills of the Santa Cruz Mountains, beyond which lies the Pacific Ocean. Since its founding by Leland and Jane Stanford as a memorial to their only child—Leland Jr.—the University has emerged as one of the foremost academic institutions in the world.

Annually, Stanford enrolls approximately 12,500 students, of whom 6,600 are undergraduates, and 5,900 are graduate students. The University uses no racial, religious, ethnic, geographical or sex-related quotas in admissions. About 48 percent of the students are from California, and the rest from the other 49 states and some 70 countries. Black, Chicano and native American students comprise about 10 percent of the enrollment.

The University is organized into seven Schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Medicine and Law. Within the Schools, there are 70 departments. In addition, there are 27 institutes, centers and laboratories outside the School structure. Some of the major ones are the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, the Food Research Institute, the Center for Research in International Studies, the W. W. Hansen Laboratories of Physics, and the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center.

Hoover Tower is a well-known landmark on the Stanford campus. In the foreground is Lake Lagunita, and in the distance, the San Francisco Bay.

The Graduate School of Business is ranked first in the nation on the basis of academic quality, according to a 1975 survey of business school deans.

Memorial Church was a gift to the University from Jane Stanford in memory of her husband Leland Sr.

Since 1957, Stanford has moved from thirteenth to third in the overall excellence of its graduate programs in humanities, sciences and engineering, according to surveys of the American Council on Education. Last year, the Graduate School of Business was rated first in the nation on the basis of academic quality by a survey of business school deans. Stanford's Education, Engineering and Medical Schools were each ranked among the top three nationally in a 1974 survey of deans.

A measure of undergraduate distinction is found in the increase in applicants, now running at about seven applicants for each place in the freshman class. Forty-two Stanford students have been elected Rhodes Scholars since World War II. More than three-fourths of graduating seniors attend graduate or professional schools.

Richard W. Lyman became the seventh President of Stanford in September of 1970 following service as Associate Dean of the School of Humanities and Sciences in 1964-67 and as Vice President and Provost in 1967-70. He holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Swarthmore and the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard. A specialist in contemporary British history, he joined the Stanford faculty in history in 1958.

Among the approximately 1,000 faculty members who make up the Stanford Academic Council, there are seven Nobel laureates, three Pulitzer Prize winners, 57 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 88 members of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, 17 members of the National Academy of Engineering and five members of the National Academy of Education.

A special feature of the Stanford undergraduate education is the opportunity to attend a Stanford overseas study center. These centers enable the student to study abroad while continuing normal progress toward an undergraduate degree. The nine Stanford overseas campuses are located in England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy and Spain. Programs for advanced students conducted with other universities are in Rome, Salamanca (Spain), Bonn, Taipei and Tokyo. In 1975-76, about 500 undergraduates spent one, two or three quarters at one of the studies centers.

Joseph H. Ruetz
Athletic Director

Since his appointment as Stanford Athletic Director in 1972, Joe Ruetz has quickly earned a reputation as one of the country's leading sports administrators.

At a time when economic pressures have forced many universities to make substantial cutbacks in their athletic programs, Stanford has remained successful both on the field and in the financial arena.

"Our goal," Ruetz says, "is the same as ever—excellence in a variety of things. Football is still in there with geology and pharmacology."

During Ruetz's directorship, Stanford has captured two NCAA team championships in tennis and 11 individual national titles. Stanford Stadium has been renovated, with tunnel entrances added on the Stadium's west side, and the University has completed the impressive deGuerre Pool Complex, one of the finest aquatics facilities in the country.

Under Ruetz's direction, Stanford merged all men's and women's sports programs in March of 1975. The Athletic Department now has responsibility for 21 men's and women's intercollegiate teams, intramural programs, club sports, physical education, and on-campus recreation.

Ruetz, 59, has a varied background as athlete, coach, fund-raiser, and administrator. A star football player first at Notre Dame and later with the Chicago Rockets, he coached at Stanford and St. Mary's College (Moraga, Calif.). Before becoming Athletic Director, he served Stanford for 15 years as associate general secretary.

A 1938 graduate of Notre Dame, Ruetz played three years of varsity football for the Fighting Irish and earned honorable mention All-America at guard his senior year.

He obtained his B.S. degree in pre-medical studies, then studied anthropology at the University of California, Berkeley, while serving as assistant football coach at St. Mary's from 1938-40.

When World War II broke out, Ruetz was backpacking through the wilds of Southeastern Utah. He emerged after 42 days of hiking through blizzards, canyons and mountains to find that a war was on, and enlisted in the U.S. Naval Officers Pre-Flight Program. Later he was a pilot in the Marine Corps.

In 1942 he earned All-Service All-America while playing for the Pre-Flight team based at St. Mary's, where one of his teammates was Frankie Albert.

After the war, Ruetz played professionally for the Chicago Rockets (1946 and 1948), while continuing his work in anthropology at the University of Chicago.

He returned to California in 1949 as assistant coach at St. Mary's and was appointed head coach a year later. In 1951, he joined the staff at Stanford under the man he would later succeed as Athletic Director—Chuck Taylor. He coached the offensive line, as Stanford posted a 9-1 mark and went to the Rose Bowl.

Ruetz remained as assistant coach at Stanford for six years, until a bout with cancer forced him to give up coaching. He moved over to the general secretary's office, where he served for 15 years.

Joe was born in Racine, Wisconsin, October 21, 1916. He and his wife, Genny, have two children—Susan, 24, and Joe, 22, both Stanford graduates.

Stanford Stadium

Home of Stanford's football teams for the past 56 years, Stanford Stadium is nestled among a eucalyptus-tree setting on the University campus.

Construction of the present 86,307-seat structure was begun in the early 1920's and completed in 1922. The stadium was dedicated November 19, 1921 in the Big Game, with California spoiling the opener 42-7.

Initially, the stadium was a 65-row U-shaped structure which extended from ground level downward. Built completely of pine wood, the stadium was enlarged to its present-day capacity in 1927-29 by the addition of 25 rows upward and rows in the south end zone.

Since 1929, minor changes in replacement of the seats from pine to redwood to cedar have altered original construction. Additions to the stadium have been the press box in 1960, the south end zone scoreboard in 1967, the all-weather track in 1969 and tunnel entrances on the west side in 1973.

Considered one of the best grids in the country, the natural turf field is bermuda grass cut to a ¾-inch height during football season. Sand is added to the field every two years in order to increase rain absorption.

An over-capacity crowd of 94,000 at the November 13, 1935 Big Game was the largest in Stanford Stadium history. That year the Cards defeated Cal 13-0 and went on to defeat SMU in the Rose Bowl.
